May is LEAVE A LEGACY™ month and it's time to start a conversation ... with your family.

What do you want your legacy to look like after you're gone? How would you like to be remembered by future generations?

For many people, legacy means family and community – a family and community that share your values, support each other and reach their full potential. You can help make that happen!

Ask yourself and your family, what would happen if you shared your estate with your children and one or more of your favourite charities? What impact would that make on your children – for example, if they were to receive one third of your estate rather than one half? Would it really make that much of a difference to their quality of life? At the same time think of the impact it could make on their community: safer streets, food security, enhanced healthcare, a vibrant arts scene ... the list goes on – and you can choose!!!

Many people believe legacy giving is for “rich” people. But think about it. Your home alone is probably worth over $400,000! Isn't that an estate worth sharing? And split three ways instead of two creates a substantial gift to your children and the community.

May is LEAVE A LEGACY™ month and it's time to start a conversation ... with your family, your financial advisors, your favourite charity and your lawyer. Don't wait, start the conversation today and make an impact forever.
