

Joady Guyot

Joady has been with the Assante organization for over 20 years, and her primary job role is helping share best practices between financial advisors in the Assante network so that they can constantly improve the way they help Canadian families manage their wealth. In 2018 she became actively involved in giving strategies, and has been partnering with advisors to keep that conversation going.