

Aimée Lindemberger

Aimée Lindemberger is Chief Engagement Officer at Refocus Communications & Fundraising. She gets to spend her days helping charitable organizations make the world a better place, and she can't think of anything she'd rather do.

With her degree in Graphic Communications Management, double minors in Marketing and Multimedia, a tender heart and insightful mind, and nearly twenty years of marketing and communications experience, she has worked with charities across Canada, helping them build fundraising programs.

Whether working with the largest national organizations, or local one-person shops, she brings her deep and unrelenting curiosity – the underpinning of her drive to get to the heart of the organizations she works with – and a clear focus on communications as the key to donor engagement.

Aimée is Co-Chair of the CAGP Greater Vancouver Chapter, and serves as a member of the Communications Committee and Fraser Valley Committee for the Greater Vancouver Chapter of AFP.
