

Diane Silva

Diane Silva is the Director of Philanthropy at London Community Foundation (LCF). She leads the Foundation's philanthropy strategy, growing and stewarding its donor base. Diane is passionate about engaging donors through innovative giving tools such as impact investing and connecting and educating donors about the funding needs of equity seeking groups in our community. Diane is also the host of LCF's podcast What London Can Be where she speaks with experts, leaders and changemakers about the critical challenges facing our city and what we can do to foster a more vibrant, resilient and just community.

In her spare time, Diane volunteers for Meals on Wheels and is Chair of the board. She loves spending quality time with friends and family, and enjoys staying active with a good game of tennis!
