

John Lepp

John Lepp is a direct response, marketing and design expert with more than 20 years' experience working with charities across Canada and around the world. He helps them tell better stories that inspire donors to give, both online and offline. He is a respected and coveted international speaker who has traveled the world encouraging fundraisers be more human and vulnerable with those other amazing humans we call donors.