

Natasha van Bentum

Natasha van Bentum is an international development and outreach practitioner with a focus on green legacies and a keen interest in social entrepreneurship and social finance. Her decades of fundraising experience cover the full scope of fundraising programs, including major gifts, monthly giving, direct mail, special events, capital campaigns, and gift planning.

Over the years, Natasha has been instrumental in promoting the creation of legacy programs both in Canada and worldwide. This has resulted in millions of dollars being put to work to address the vital issues of our times, and help create a greener and healthier future for future generations.

“Natasha’s philosophy and commitment to mentoring a new generation, as well as producing and freely-sharing high quality publicly-available resources and tools for the sector, is well recognized”. Malcolm Burrows, Head, Philanthropic Advisory Services, Scotia Wealth Management.
